

Key Competencies in the Online World: Lower Primary

Key competencies	Learner profile	For learning and wellbeing, this might look like:
Use language/ symbols/ texts	Know how to use digital technology to access and provide information and to communicate with others. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Information literacy Internet safety Security 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Can use keywords and browsers Question what I read – is this true or fake? Communicate to others in a positive way
Thinking	Competent thinkers and problem-solvers who can actively seek, use, and create knowledge online. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Critical literacy Scams and commerce 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Search for information to solve problems Create new solutions to problems Think about and question online information Use what I know about some technology to learn other new skills
Managing Self	Resourceful, reliable, and resilient; use online time purposefully; have strategies for managing digital challenges; know when and how to act independently and for others. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Self-image Identity Digital footprint Reputation Privacy 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Know about privacy settings, sharing of details – digital footprint, passwords Share personal information appropriately and safely e.g., online profiles Know what to do when I see content I don't like Understand common digital challenges Can help others
Relating to others	Open to new learning and aware of how words and actions affect others online. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Relationships Communication Online bullying 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Leave/use useful positive comments Be kind Help others who are affected by unkind comments/actions Manage the use of photos for myself and others Provide feedback positively in online comments Share and create information with others appropriately
Participating & Contributing	Confidence to participate online. Understand the importance of balancing rights, roles, and responsibilities and of contributing to online spaces positively. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Online bullying Creative credit and copyright 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Work with others positively Use apps correctly Understand the influence of tech Use others' information appropriately e.g. music, video, text etc