Netsafe collaborates with Global Risk Consulting Group to build deeper insights into New Zealand's online harm threat landscape

Enterprise risk management company Global Risk Consulting (GRC) Group and New Zealand online safety organisation Netsafe are partnering to improve the standards of cyber security and safety throughout Aotearoa-New Zealand and across the Pacific region.

GRC is a global international consultancy and technology group primarily focused on delivering risk management practice across a range of domains including security, health, emergency-crisis, cyber, training, natural disaster-climate change risk management domains.

Netsafe is an independent non-profit organisation supporting people in Aotearoa to have safe and positive online experiences. It keeps people of all ages safe online by providing free support, advice, and education.

Chris Kumeroa, Managing Director of GRC Group echos this saying "Netsafe is a natural fit as they do a lot of social good for our nation, something that falls within our day-to-day mantra. We really look forward to advancing this wonderful relationship in the hope to provide care and protection for all across the cyber world."

Brent Carey, CEO of Netsafe says one of the biggest challenges in the online safety space is how to record, label and use the right data. We are working with the GRC Group to incorporate a data centric approach to our online safety harm minimisation efforts.

"GRC is a like-minded organisation looking to tackle online threats. We will be rolling out different projects as part of the partnership that is focused on understanding the cyber security and safety threats in New Zealand."
